

As a foreign citizen to buy property in Russia

First of all let's be clear about what the purpose of a foreign national buying residential property in Russia. On real estate for production purposes in this article we will not speak because it is a separate and very capacious topic. First of all the housing in such a wonderful capital city as Moscow nowadays is considered a very profitable and prestigious investment. Of course first of all we are talking about exclusive luxury housing. However, many of our neighbors from neighboring countries has long been prefer to live in the Russian capital as owners of budget accommodation. For many foreigners living in Moscow has practical significance. At the same time, we know that the rental housing that meets the social status of managers and top managers of foreign companies and which can only be rented for a lot of money is not more expensive than the purchase of the housing loans. Because this category of highly paid managers of foreign companies seeking to buy it. It is obvious that the interests of business to make such an extensive group of wealthy people to stay in Russia by the way and not only in the capital but in the other cities most of the year. In other words, many of those who rented apartments through UPDK say now prefer to buy them. Most of them for a long time while staying in our Home married married Russian women marrying Russian men themselves Russified and already consider Russia their second homeland. This naturally leads them to the idea of buying a decent comfortable accommodation in the property. In this article, for this group of foreign nationals, we will tell you what rights they have when purchasing residential property in Russia, what documents they will need to commit this transaction and how to submit these documents to the registering authorities of the Russian Federation. And very simply. If you hire a qualified lawyer and entrust him with the fulfillment of all formalities. However, if you want to do everything yourself and even then the purchase of housing in Russia a foreign citizen, the procedure is not the most difficult. At first glance At first glance in order to purchase residential property in Russia is enough to provide the identity card and visa. Not even these documents as notarized copies translated into Russian language by a translator whose signature under the translation also notarized. Well, except that if a foreign national if there is a spouse he neeneko should submit a document which onaon agrees to purchase such real estate. Of course if the document is

Link to article:: As a foreign citizen to buy property in Russia