All documents issued in any one state and operate in its territory may have legal effect in another state only under the condition that they have passed an authentication process. Today, there are two main ways that identity is an Apostille and Consular legalization. CONSULAR LEGALIZATION Is a procedure which certifies that the documents comply with the laws of the state in which they were issued. When it is confirmed that the signed document official is this also verified his status as the authenticity of the seal which was placed on the documents and acts of state authorities to the possibility of their use in other States. The procedure of legalization of documents intended for use in the Russian Federation, but issued in another state can be held in the state where they were created. This document is necessary to certify with the authorized state body the Ministry of foreign Affairs on the territory where it was created then it is the legalization of the consular establishment of that state. In some cases, you may need to translate the document into Russian language. The procedure of legalization of documents Rossi for States which have not signed the Hague Convention. In most cases for the legalization of documents to use in other States used such a scheme in the Russian Federation, the notary public confirms that the signature of the translator the translation of the document is a true copy certifies the document the authenticity of the seal and signature of the notary testifies to the Ministry of the Russian Federation. When will be implemented legalization in the Ministry of foreign Affairs of the Russian Federation legalization of documents must be made in the Consulate of the country in which they will be used. Foreign Consul should be based on existing samples to assure the authenticity of the seal of the signature of an authorized officer of the DCS of the MFA of the Russian Federation. Those documents which belong to legal entities of Russia can be legalized only in case the state registration was carried out on the basis of laws of the Russian Federation. Legalization neither copies nor originals are not subject to such documents as military records employment records and other identity documents cannot be forwarded or exported to other countries. APOSTILLE An apostille is an easier way
